Attee Pomerene first saw ne hight of this world December 26, 1863, at Bgrlin, Holmes county, Opio, He attended the common achoose of his vicinity in the winter and worked on the father's farm during the summer seasons until he was about 15 years of age. He then struck out for an educational establishment of a higher grade, and for four years be attended the Vermilion Institute at Hayaville, Ashland county. During the aat year of his stay at Hayaville he was employed by the institution as tutor in Latta and Greek. arduous and doremitting atddy he equipped himself so as to be able to enter the junior year at Princton callege in 1882, he graduated with high finners in 1884, and was one of what is known as the "Honor Men" in a class of 116 statients.

After he had finished his collegiste course at Princeton he returned to Ohio and entered the law effice of then, Durbin Ward, of Cincinnati. It was at tois place that he took the debate prize as the best al - cound debater in a contest that was competed for by six of the best debaters in the class.

As soon as he had finished his law course at Cincionati he came to Canton to locate, and be immediately formed a parmerenip with Casrles E. Miller, under the firm name of Miller & Pomerene. He was twice elected city solicitor of Canton by majorities ranging in the hundreds. For his second term his Republican op ponent was Thos. F. Turner, who was then president of the McKinley club. That organization was united in his be-half and they made a hard figur for their chief, but Mr. Pomerene's for their chief, but Mr. Pomerene's record as solicitor could not be assailed and he was re-elected by an increased majority. He was elected to the Canton Board of Education last spring for the one year term by 467 majority. He was married June 29, 1892, to Miss Mars E. Booking of this city. Mary E. Bockius, of this city.
Mr. Pomerene is a signal instance of the value of thorough preparation for one's lifework. The world is full of half-trained men, who go through life handicapped by insufficient preparation for their life-work. No man at the Stark county bar was ever more thoroughly equipped for the career of a lawyer than is Aties Pomerene. He didn't ramble over the whole library and simply get a smattering of the curriculum at college, but he thoroughly mastered every branch but he thoroughly mastered every branch of learning. He has an infinite capacity for work and accomplishes more with less aparent effort than suy man at the bar. He is utterly destitute of the egotism which so frequently characterizes young at-torneys and he is always self possessed without the least trace of vanity. His distinguishing tract of character is manti He possesses the rare family of "no" when the truth requires it saying "no" when the truth requires it and he is fearless in the discharge of a public duty.

Against his administration as solicitor of this city suspicion never dared to breathe and he is revered and respected in every section of the county and by every faith. No mistake can be made by the people in electing him to the office for which he aspires, and no villian or criminal will ever go unpunished so long as he is Prosecuting Astorney of Stark county.

Watkins was about quitting work and while walkwas about quisting work and while walking through a room a rock weighing about twenty hundred pounds fell down from the roof. A large piece of coal lay beneath and as the large stone fell it struck Watkins and knocked him down alongside the coal. This alone saved him from being crushed to death. He sustained a fracture of the pelvice bones and some had bruises. McCarty wasn't under that part of the roof but he was hear enough to be knocked. SOLDIERS PENSIONS.

Summary of the Speech of Gen. Vandervoort of Nebrasks, Late Commander-in Chief of the Grand Army, on Soldiers Pensions-Let Every Soldier and Pair otic Citiven Read.

Gen. Paul Vandervoort, of Nebrasks, spake for the Popular party, in the schaefer Opera House, Canton, on the evening of October 25th, A portion of his remarks were devoted to soldiers pens sions. As Gen. Vandervoort has spent 11 winters in Washington, and is one of the best known and most faithful friends of the Union soldier in the United States; a friend of Gen. Grant, and a companion of Gen. Logan in war and in peace, his speech is one that must command universal credence among the soldiers and all patriotic citizens. During nearly all the time that Gen. Vandervoort covers with his speech he was a member of the Grand Army Pension Committee of the United States, and labored before the Congress stonal Pension Committees in season and out of season, without any compensation for the interest of old soldiers. He even surrendered his own pension for disability contracted at Andersonville prison, that no one could say he had personal interest in the question.

Gen. Vandervoort said:
The Republican leaders, when a political campaign is waging, claim the benefit of all legislation favorable to the soldier.
It is an open secret that at this time Obto is awarming with agents of the Special Examination Division of the Pension Bu-reau, whose duty it is to buildoze United States pensioners by declaring that if the Democrats retain power no more pensions will be granted. An examination of the records of Congress shows that the Barbara arrestages of pensions was introduced December 9, 1874, in the Senate and referred to the Committee on Pensions. This bill was reported back to the Senate, with an adverse report, January 26, 1875. (Page 729, Congressional Record, Forty-hird Congress.) Hon. D. D. Pratt, Re-publican Senator from Indiana, who was chairman of the committee on pensions,

"I am instructed by the committee "
"I am instructed by the committee "
" to report adversely on the Senate bill 985, " " " providing for the payment of arrears of pensions. The committee learned on correspondence with the pension officer that it would require universely of $2,000,000 to meet the quire upward of 49,000,000 to meet the requisitions of this bill. For economic reasons, as well as others, the committee think the bill should not be entertained. Senator Pratt moved the indefinite postponement of the bill, and that motion was carried. The arrears of pension act was thus effectually killed for that Congress by the Republican party. The House of the Forty-fourth Congress wa. Democratic. Many patitions, memoaking payment of arrears of pensions. I'ness were referred to the committee and promptly and favorably considered, and the committee formulated a bill to pay the arrears, and reported it to the House for passage, and General A. V. Rice, of Ohio, a brave and gallant Union soldier, who had lost a leg in the service, moved to suspend the rules and pass it (House bill No. 2803,) (Record, Fortyourth Congress, second session, page

General Rice said: "Its provisions are eminently just and proper. No words of mine Can appear so strongly to the just-ness and propriety of this measure as does the condition of those for whom this relief is asked." Guera! Rice's motion prevailed, the rules were suspended, and the bill passed the House atarch 3, 1877. The Senate was Republican by a large m jority. Immediately upon the bill be, ing read, Senator Ingalis, Republican from Kausas, moved that it lie on the table, and this motion was agreed to; and thus this bill to pay the soldiers arrearages of pensions was killed by a Republican Senate (see page 2168, Record, second session, Forty-fourth Congress,) making the second time the Republican Senate defeated arrearsges of pensions acts.

The next House was also Democratic, and the Senate was very close. The House again passed the arrears of pension the Senate, Jan. 16, 1879, but the Repubicans would have defeated it, had not six rebel soldiers voted for it. Their names are Hill of Georgia, Butler of South Carclina, Gordon of Georgis, Cockrell of Mo, Harris of Tenn., and Macy of Florida, Take the equalization of soldiers' bounties, which passed the 43d Congress in 1875, and a more just enactment never passed Congress. Why did Gen. Grant veto it? Gen. Grant told me that he always regretted this action. "But," said he, "I was in the Vice President's room in the Capital during the experience bears. in the Capitol during the expiring hours of the 43 Congress. When this bill was brought in for my signature, Senator Sherman of Ohlo, and Senator Edmonds Sherman of Ohio, and Senator Edmonds of Vi. followed the measenger into the Vice President's room, and said if I signed that bill, it would bankrupt the treaury," "This shows," said Mr. Van Dervoort, "wno induced Gen. Grant to veto this just and patriotic measure, a simple matter of justice to every soldier of the Republic.

Take the bill to pension prisoners of war. That measure was defeated, first in the house by the action of Gen. Grosvenor, an Ohio Republican Congressman, and in an Ohio Republican Congressman, and in the senate, was kept in a pocket by Sena-tor Harrison, (afterwards President) of Indians, and Senator Hawiey, of Con-necticut, on the ground that the country could not afford it. But take the last act in the great series of acts on this question; the Dependent pension bill, sometimes called the Pauper bill. It is a well known fact that the Grand Army saked for the Service pen-sion bill, and in the campaign of 1888, Gen. Herrison, then a candidate for President, told me in Indianapolis be avored the Service pension bill, and favored the Service pension bill, and authorized me to say so, and at President Harrisou's request, I went on the stump in six states of this Union, telling the Union soldlers that the election of a Republican President and a Republican Congress meant a Service pension lay. But how we were deceived and betrayed, the record above.

No sooner had Harrison been elected No sconer had Harrison been elected than the whole party changed front, and at a banquet held in Washington, just as Congress was meeting, at which Reed, McKinley, Julius C. Burrows and other party leaders were present, and which I attended, it was agreed that the party could not carry out its promises for a service pension, and in after conferences McKinley lead the party in the defeat of a service pension law, and he aided to defeat it on the floor of Congress.

Gen. Van Dervoort said, when he found the party leaders had decided to violate the party leaders had decided to violate its most sacred pledges to the soldiers who did the fighting and to pass a law to pension those who did the least fighting he decided to leave the Republican party.

A MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

The Body of an Alliance Young Lady Found in a Pile of Boards-A Post Mortem to be Held.

Alliance is stirred up over the mysterious death of Miss Rebecca McDowell, a highly respected young lady, who has been making her home with Thomas Nixon. Miss McDowell's body was found Sunday noon in a pile of boards in a barn back of Nixon's residence. Miss Mc Dowell, who has been visiting relatives in Iowa for several weeks, returned home last Friday night. It seems that she had a quarrel with the Nixon family before leaving, and when she rapped at their door Friday night they refused to admit her. Nothing was seen of her until Sucday noon, when a member of the family going to the barn discovered her remains She had been subject to epilepsy, and some of her friends believe that when she sought shelter in the barn on Friday night the agitation and grif she felt over relatives' harsbness brought on an attack and death resulted. In her helpless condition others believe she suicided because of the ill-treatment accorded her. She was a social favorite, and her death has created a big sensation. Coroner Conklin went to Alliance this afternoon where he will make a thorough investigation of the case. He will hold a post mortem over the remains.

DRUNKENNESS Or the Liquor Habit, Positively Cured, by administering Dr. Haines' Goldon Specific

It is manufactured as a powder, which can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee or tes, or in food, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmiess, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the person is a moderate drinker or an aiceholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It NEVER FALLS. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist.
